Two days left to sign up for first-time launch program

The First-time Shuttle Launch Viewers Program for the STS-113 launch in November will be open until close-of-business Thursday. The program allows 54 civil servants and their guests to request an opportunity to see a Space Shuttle launch. Those selected will be responsible for making, and paying for, their own travel and lodging expenses. Administrative leave for up to three days will be granted. A computer will randomly select those to attend from participants who sign up at the Web site. To sign up, visit <http://ntf-2.msfc.nasa.gov/ftlvp.nsf/main>.
